In New York Monday evening, a dense mass of humanity struggled for admission to Madison Square garden, to witness a glove fight between Sullivan and Wilson, and when the ball opened there were sixteen thousand persons in the building, and as many gathered outside. Three women occupied a box, and Charles A. Dana had a chair neaf the reporters. Harry Hill presented a couple of famous English boxers, who fought three rounds, but the audience interrupted with cries for the chief attraction. When Wilson and Sullivan appeared, the vast mass rose and cheered. The betting was $100 to $75 in favor of the American. Wilson was to receive $1,000 if he fought four rounds, and half the gate money. He walked over to Sullivan and offered to bet $1,000 that he would not be knocked out of time, but the latter declined to wager anything more. Wilson was knocked down twenty-seven times, but bravely and cunningly stood out for the four rounds, and won his allowance. The ly and cunningly stood out for the four rounds, and won his allowance. CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

JULY 13.—In the senate, Mr. Mahone reported back the house bill to establish a bureau of animal industry. Mr. Voorhees secured the adoption of a resolution to inquire into the expediency of purchasing and publishing the manuscripts of Andrew Jackson. A joint resolution was passed appropriating $53,000 toward American representation in the international fishery exhibition in London. A discussion as to the order of business called out campaign speeches from Messrs. Pendleton, Sherman, Beck, Windom, and Butler, when it was decided to take up the tax bill. Mr. Voor was decided to take up the tax bill. Mr. Voor-bees read a defense of General Hancock's at-titude on the tariff issue while Mr. Call in-dulged in a refreshing nap, the senators heart-ily enjoying the scene. An executive session

JULY 14.—In the senate Mr. Hill reported back the bill to punish postmasters for making false certificates of the arrival or departure of mails. Bills were passed to increase to $50 per month the pension granted to the widow of General Custer, and to give a like amount to the daughter of President Taylor. The internal revenue bill was taken up, and Mr. Bayard spoke for hours, showing that the Mr. Bayard spoke for hours, showing that the cumbersome machinery of the revenue bu-reau was undiminished, while the reductions in taxation were insignificant. Mr. Beck of-fered an amendment reducing by 16 cents per pound the tax on manufactured tobacco, when the bill went over, and the senate adjourned, JULY 15.—In the senate, Mr. Anthony introduced a bill to repeal so much of the army appropriation law as provides for the retirement of Generals Sherman and Sheridan. There was considerable discussion on a resolution directing the secretary of the interior to suspend action on the payment of a double pension to General Ward B. Burnett, but no action was taken. A resolution was adopted calling on the president for copies of the decilarations of Bulwer and Clayton upon the ratification of the treaty. The pension appropriation bill, covering $100,000,000, was taken up. An amendment calling for an annual list of pensions borne on the rolls was struck out, and the bill was passed. The senate insisted upon its amendments to the river and harbor bill, and a conference committee was appointed.

July 17.—In the senate, Mr. Allison report-JULY 15 .- In the senate, Mr. Anthony intro-

Concurrence was given to the house amendment to the senate bili to promote telegraphic communication between Europe and America. An executive session closed the proceedings.

JULY 18.—In the senate, the petition of the Guiteau jurors for $5 per day was refused. By a vote of 39 to 20, an executive session was then held, during which a long debate occurred over the confirmation of James E. Staughred over the confirmation of James E. Staugh-ter for postmaster at Mobile, the nomination being approved. When the doors were open-ed, Mr. Sherman called up the tax bill, a mo-tion to adjourn being defeated. Messrs. Lo-gan, Cameron, Dawes, Conger, and Jones presented telegraphic protests from tobacco manufacturers against a change in the rate of taxation, and asking for rebates if the bill passed. No action was taken.

passed. No action was taken.

JULY 19.—In the senate, Mr. Sewell presented resolutions adopted by the Fifth army corps at Detroit, asking that justice be done Fitz John Porter. Mr. Logan introduced a bill to so modify the Chinese law as to permit them to pass through the country without stopping. It was laid aside without action, and the tax bill was taken up. Mr. Williams denounced the measure as a temporary expedient by the republican party to quiet popular clamor. Mr. Beck's amendment to fix the tobacco tax at 12 cents per pound after January next was agreed to. A motion to retain the stamp tax on bank checks and drafts for over $100 was rejected. The house joint resolution to extend the appropriations to July 31 was passed.

HOUSE.

JULY 18.—The house, resumed consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill, which was passed by 138 to 40. An item of $4,000 for the family of the late Mr. Hawk was agreed to the trunk-line ratiways in the north, and the inspection of infected vessels arriving at our ports from yellow fever points abroad.

July 18.—The house, resumed consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill, which was passed by 138 to 49. An item of $4,000 for the family of the late Mr. Hawk was agreed to. It was decided to appropriate $70,000 to meet the expenses of thirty-five contestants to seats, and to set aside $20,000 to pay the bills of a commission to negotiate a commercial treaty with Moxico. Mr. Hoiman offered an amendment to appropriate $15,000 to canble the president to carry out the statute to promote civil-service reform. Mr. Horr opened the ball in opposition, and Mr. Willis responded with a story, the discussion being continued by Messrs. Cox, Reed, Springer, and Robeson, when the proposition was adopted.

JULY 14.—The house, in considering the senate amendments to the general deficiency bill, refused to accept the item of $33,000 for mileage to senators for the special session of October last. On the amendment to create a board of audit for the Garfield claims, Mr. board of audit for the Garfield claims, Mr. Blackburn attacked the surgeons for their management of the president's case, culogized the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and urged that all claimants be sent to the courts. Mr. Taylor, representing Garfield's district, announced that the president's widow would never litigate the bills of the physicians. Mr. Springer remarked that if only $35,000 were allotted to the doctors there would be a more unseemly quarrel than occurred over Guiteau's body. Mr. Hiscock regretted that the country should be treated to such a scene. Mr. Dunnell thought the settlement of the matter should be left to the house. Mr. Williams appeased to memoers to increase the amount fixed in the amendment was non-concurred in by 78 to 83. Mr. Taylor then introduced a bill, which was passed by an unanimous vote, to pay Mrs. Garfield $50,000 less any sum advanced to her husband on salary account. A bill was passed to refer to the court of claims all demands against the government. An evening session was held to consider pension bills, forty of which were passed. Seventy-five condemned cannon were voted away for momental purposes.

mental purposes.

JULY 15.—In the house, Mr. Cannon reported the disagreement of the conference committee on the legislative appropriation, and the conferees were reappointed, and instructed to insist on their views being considered. A resolution was adopted that the committee on civil-service reform consider the inequalities of salaries of senate and house employes, and another that the president be requested to furnish information in regard to the pool recently entered into by the French Cable company. The house then went into committee of the whole on the senate amendments to the river and harbor appropriation, none of the river and harbor appropriation, none of them being concurred in, even the Hennepin canal project failing.

canal project falling.

JULY 17.—In the house, the bill to provide additional industrial training schools for Indian youth, and authorizing the use of unoccupied military barracks was passed. Mr. Hewitt rose to a question of privilege, and called attention to a sentence appearing in the Record as a speech by Mr. Robeson which had not been uttered on the floor, and asked the speaker to have the objectionable phrase stricken out. Mr. Robeson retaliated by words of ridicule, and the speaker declined to order the expunging of the words. The house refused to fix a date for the consideration of the bill for the admission of Dakota. A senate bill was passed for the sale of the site of the old postoffice building in New York for $600,000. Mr. Robinson introduced resolutions in the interest of American citizens in British prisons, and calling on the secretary of the prisons, and calling on the secretary of the navy to report whether or not American sail-ors are performing police duty in Alexandria under the British admiral. Mr. Bingham re-ported a bill in regard to thepay of letter-car-riers.

JULY 18.-The house arranged for the expenses of the government by extending the provisions of the joint resolution of June 3b. The committee on elections made reports on the Virginia and Maine contested seats, pronouncing in favor of Cabell and Reed, and the resolutions were adopted. Mr. Calkins called up the South Carolina case of Smalls vs. Til-man, on which Mr. Randall raised a question of consideration. The house proceeded to vote, all but two democrats declining to an-swer, the result showing fifteen less than a swer, the result showing fifteen less than a quorum. The doors were closed, and several roll-calls took place, a quorum being obtained at 5 p. m. Mr. Waite opened the discussion in behalf of Smalls, when an adjournment was taken.

JULY 19.—The house resumed consideration of the South Carolina contested election case of Smalls vs. Tillman. Mr. Horr stood in front of the speaker's desk and with a small cane pointed out the boundaries of the new congressional districts of South Carolina, and de-nounced the work as downright villainy.— Messrs. Moulton and Simonton argued in support of the sitting member. Mr. Evins, after arraigning the republicans for corruption and gerrymandering, objected to their lecturing the people of South Carolina on political morality. Mr. Tiliman, speaking in his own behalf, expressed the fearthat his state would be reconstructed for the purpose of plumler, and announced that he would be returned to congress by negro votes. Mr. Smalls was then seated by 141 to 5. The Alabama case of Smith vs. Shelley was taken up, Mr. Ranney obtaining the floor.

The pension appropriation bill, as passed by the senate, makes no change in the amount appropriated by the house, which remains at $100,000,000. No amendments, except those recommended by the senate committee on appropriations, were adopted, outside of the more verbal changes. The amendments authorize the commissioner of pensions to appoint surgeons to make such examination of pensioners and applicants as he shall require, and to organize boards of surgeons, to consist of three members each, at such points in each state as he shall deem necessary to conduct such examinations, subject to the revision of a special board of three surgeons, to be appointed when the extigencies of the service require it. The fee for such examinations shall be $2$ for each member of the beard. An amendment was also adopted prohibiting the payment of double pensions.

A Very Curious Riddle.

Here is a curious old story that is something like a puzzle: A crocodile stole a buby, "in the days when animals could talk," and was about to make a dinner of it. The poor mother begged piteously for her child. "Tell me one truth," said the crocodile, "and you shall have your baby again." The mother thought it over, and at last said: "You will not give him back." "Is that the truth you mean to tell?" asked the crocodile. "Yes," replied the mother. "Then by our agreement I keep him," added the crocodile; "for if you told the truth I am not going to give him back, and if it is a falsehood, then I have also won." Said she: "No, you are wrong. If I told Here is a curious old story that is Said she: "No, you are wrong.
